DANCING AROUND THE GOLDEN CALF - PART III

FASHIONING THE GOLDEN CALF

By John S. Torell

THE THEOLOGICAL TEACHING THAT IS DESTROYING AMERICA

In my previous newsletter, we looked at the life of John Nelson Darby and now I want to show you who influenced and financed him. But before we get into that, let me briefly give you a general sketch of what life was like in the United States at that time. The reason for this is to show you how much damage has been done to our nation. I am devoting a large portion of this newsletter to explain the financial situation from the mid-1850's to our current time since money was the driving force behind false doctrine. The men and women responsible for introducing false doctrine to the Christian church back then were well taken care of by international Jewish Bankers, even to this day, all while Bible preaching fundamental ministers are being starved and hindered by the removal of their financial support.

THE UNITED STATES IN THE 1850-1890's

This was a time of great expansion as factories were built to usher in mass production, a railroad system was constructed to encompass the entire nation, and more public schools were added. The gold rush in California spearheaded a push to enlarge the United States all of the way to the Pacific Ocean under the slogan "Manifest Destiny."

Immigrants came pouring into the nation after the end of the Civil War. (1861-65), There was a mass immigration from Europe led by Finns, Swedes, Danes and Norwegians, most of whom were looking for farmland and ended up settling in Minnesota, the Midwest and Texas. There were also Germans, Irish, and people from Eastern Europe. There were even a large number of Jews from all over Europe who decided to immigrate to the U.S. It is interesting to note, that internally, they divided themselves into several classes. The "Hofjuden" from Germany were well educated and financially well-off, those from Russia and Poland were poor and there were those from other European nations who were neither rich nor poor.

Cash was scarce, and most hard working Americans suffered much after the Civil War, when Jewish New York Bankers shrank the economy by taking dollar notes out of circulation.

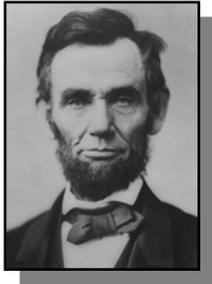

LINCOLN'S GREENBACKS

(The following discussion of the monetary history of the United States is taken from the book "LINCOLN MONEY MARTYRED," by Dr. R. E. Search, and was first published in 1935, with the last reprinting in 1985 by Omni Publications.¹ The author wrote the book during the Great Depression, only some 40 years after the crash of 1893. Some of the statistics below were retrieved by Dr. Search from a book written in 1879 entitled, "Seven Financial Conspiracies" by Mrs. S.E.V. Emery.

NO MONEY TO FIGHT A WAR

When the Civil War broke out, it took money to raise an army and pay for salaries, weapons and supplies. The United States government had no cash reserves and President Lincoln turned to the Jewish bankers in New York for war loans.

Lincoln was stunned when the different Jewish banking houses told him that they would lend the money at an interest rate of 24-36%. Eleven states had broken away from the Union, and even if taxes were doubled, there was no way the loans could be paid back. After conferring with his advisors, Lincoln made the decision to issue a currency backed by the United States government, since, according to the Constitution, Congress had the power to issue currency. About 60 million dollars were printed and stamped "Legal Tender" and used to pay the soldiers, purchase weapons and supplies. This huge infusion of cash into the economy proved to be very successful. The government had printed its own money and circumvented the banks.

The Rothschild banking family was furious and declared war on "Lincoln's Greenbacks" as they were known and set about to destroy them politically. By 1866, one year after the Civil War had ended, the Jewish bankers had corralled enough congressmen and senators to pass "THE CONTRACTION ACT," which became law on April 12, 1866. It basically authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to issue 5% twenty (20) year bonds, and with the proceeds, retire U.S. currency including greenbacks, and cremate or burn them up. The result was a reduction of the currency in circulation.

Most Americans have never learned about these money matters in history classes taught in the public schools. I am detailing this in order to help the reader understand that when men like Darby and Scofield were able to travel, it was because they had financial support from hidden sources, all while the nation suffered greatly.

STATISTICS

At the beginning of 1866, there was $1,906,687,770 cash in the country. During that year, $17,625,000 was taken out of circulation and destroyed; 520 businesses that year failed and went under.

In 1867, the Jewish bankers ordered $86,218,000 destroyed and 2,386 businesses went bankrupt.

In 1868, 473 million dollars were taken out of circulation and cremated and 2,608 businesses folded and ceased to exist.

In 1869, 500 million dollars was destroyed and 2,799 businesses went under.

In 1870, 67 million dollars was taken out of circulation and cremated and 3,551 businesses were destroyed that year.

In 1871, 35 million dollars was burned by the government, resulting in the bankruptcy of 2,915 businesses. With the government taking so much cash away from the American public, unemployment was now a real problem and wages were lowered because so many people were looking for jobs.

In 1872, the slaughter of the American economy continued with 12 million dollars being cremated; 4,069 businesses went under, wages continued to decrease and rumbling about strikes were common across the nation.

In 1873, 1.6 million dollars were taken out of circulation and burned with turmoil beginning to take place all over the country. The Jewish bankers were merciless and pressed the government to continue the slaughter of the American economy. Panic began to be widespread and 5,183 businesses went under. Half a million workers lost their jobs and strikes were common all across the country.

In 1874, 75 million dollars was taken out of circulation and cremated. This year was even worse as 5,832 businesses went under and there were now more than one million people unemployed. Strikes were even more common all over the country.

1875 was a catastrophic year for the United States. Some 40 million dollars were taken out of circulation and burned that caused 7,740 businesses to go under. Two million workers were unemployed and many families could no longer afford food; starvation was rampant on a large scale. Many men became tramps and drifted all over the nation.

I want to interject the following observation at this time. For ten years, the different presidents and congressmen had watched helplessly as the Jewish bankers caused a deep depression in the nation, but few lawmakers stood up and tried to stop it. The corruption in Washington D.C. was appalling and there was little if no leadership in the different states trying to clean up the corrupted banking system. The American economy was totally controlled by Jewish and American bankers and still is to this day.

1876 was another terrible year, as 85 million dollars was taken out of circulation and destroyed, causing the bankruptcy of 9,092 businesses. The unemployment had risen to three million people; wages were cut so low that people could not afford to buy food, and as a result, strikes and riots were common all over the country. People were losing their homes, farms and businesses; all of which were bought for pennies on the dollar, just like it happened during the Great Depression in the early 1930's. The rich got richer and the poor got poorer. Ownership of land, factories, railroads etc. was now transferred to the bankers and a few elite families.

From 1877 through 1878, some 10,478 businesses failed. By now, a resistance movement had gained steam and laws were passed in congress to allow expansion of the economy through the issuance of silver dollars. I now quote from Encyclopaedia Britannica:

“The Panic of 1873 and the subsequent depression polarized the nation on the issue of money, with farmers and others demanding the issuance of additional greenbacks or the unlimited coinage of silver. In 1874, champions of an expanded currency formed the Greenback-Labor Party, which drew most of its support from the Midwest; and after Congress passed the Resumption Act in 1875, which provided that greenbacks could be redeemed in gold beginning Jan. 1, 1879, the new party made the repeal of that act its first objective. The 45th Congress (1877–79), which was almost evenly divided between friends and opponents of an expanded currency, agreed in 1878 to a compromise that included retention of the Resumption Act, the expansion of paper money redeemable in gold, and enactment of the Bland–Allison Act, which provided for a limited resumption of the coinage of silver dollars. In the midterm elections of 1878, the Greenback-Labor Party elected

14 members of Congress and in 1880 its candidate for president polled more than 300,000 votes, but after 1878 most champions of an expanded currency judged that their best chance of success was the movement for the unlimited coinage of silver.”

To sum up these terrible years, look at the following figures: In 1865, the population in the United States numbered 34,819,581 with $1,651,282,373 of currency in circulation. If we were to take that cash number and divide it by the population, it would show there was $47.42 for each American at that time. In 1877, the population had risen to 47,714,829 but the cash total had shrunk to $696,443,394. Using the same mathematical formula, we find that the cash available was only $14.60 per capita.

MANIPULATION OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

I want to show the reader that regardless how much Jewish leaders detest and loath the Christian faith, they will still court Christians when it is beneficial to their interests. James Buel, the secretary for the American Bankers Association, wrote a letter in 1877 to all the member banks. Here is an excerpt: “Dear Sir: It is advisable to do all in your power to sustain such prominent daily and weekly newspapers, especially the Agricultural and Religious Press, as will oppose the greenback issue of paper money and that you will also withhold patronage from all applicants who are not willing to oppose the government issue of money...”

Bankers would issue credit lines to those in the press who held the same viewpoint and deny it to those who opposed them. They were working hard to brainwash the American people and sway public opinion in their favor. Today, this same tactic is used on a scale a thousand times larger than they were able to do in 1877. The World Government through international Jewish banking interests is controlling the news presented on television, radio and in print. No major news organization dares to present a different view than what has been established to be “politically correct.”

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

The chronic cash shortage in the United States led to an increased borrowing on credit. The economy started to pick up with the issuing of silver dollars in 1878, the country was still in depression, but instead of sinking further, the economy slowly started to grow. I want to again remind the reader that there really was an economic war going on between the Jewish bankers and Congress. According to the Constitution, Congress has the authority to issue currency, but the European Jewish bankers and their cousins in New York and Boston wanted to take away that right and give it to themselves. If the U.S. government issued its own money, there would not be any interest paid to the bankers, nor could they dictate the political decisions and policies of the nation.

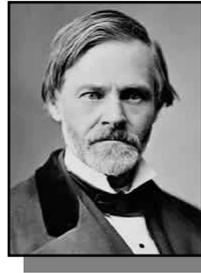

By 1880, the U.S. economy was expanding rapidly due to the fact that more and more silver dollars were entering the market. The bankers realized that the stranglehold they had put on the nation was about to break, therefore, they moved strongly in what became known as “The Bankers Rebellion.” All banks began to call in their loans, demanding an early payment. Consequently, with credit being reduced almost overnight, it shrunk the amount of cash available and took it further down to $10.23 per capita.

The years 1881 through 1892 were financially shaky, with bankers slowly increasing their credit, and putting most of the economy on a credit base. The rate of business failure was high and most people knew that sooner or later the bubble would burst. That came about on March 11, 1893, when the American Bankers Association issued a circular which became known as "The Panic Circular of 1893." Here is the letter:

"Dear Sir: The interest of the National Banks requires immediate financial legislation by Congress. Silver certificates and treasury notes must be retired and National Bank Notes upon a gold basis the only money. This will require the authorization of 500 millions to 1,000 millions of new bonds as the basis of circulation. You will at once retire one-third of your circulation and call one-half of your loans. Be careful to make a monetary stringency (scarcity) among your patrons, especially among influential business men. Advocate an extra session of Congress to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman Law and act with other banks in your city in securing a large petition to Congress for its unconditional repeal per accompanying form. Use personal influence with your Congressmen and particularly let your wishes be known to your Senators. The future life of national banks as fixed and safe investments depends upon immediate action as there is an increasing sentiment in favor of Government legal tender notes and silver coinage."

Very few people today knew that prior to 1873, anyone could bring their silver to a U.S. government mint, which would melt the silver and cast it into silver dollars free of charge. On May 27, 1872, the House of Representatives passed a law, which was known under the name: "ACT REVISING AND AMENDING THE LAWS RELATIVE TO THE MINTS, ASSAY OFFICES, AND THE COINAGE OF THE UNITED STATES." The banker's coup d'état to take away the power of free money from the American people was led by Congressman Samuel Hooper and Senator

John Sherman. It took the bankers more than seven months to muster enough support in the Senate, which passed the bill on January 17, 1873. It established a gold standard and killed silver coinage. This bill became known in the nation as "The Crime of '73." I quote directly from the Encyclopedia Britannica and what is the "official version" of the banker's stooge, John Sherman:

"John Sherman, born May 10, 1823, Lancaster Ohio, died October 22, 1900 in Washington D.C. American statesman, financial administrator, and author of major legislation concerning currency and regulation of commerce.

A younger brother of General William Tecumseh Sherman, he practiced law in Ohio before entering politics. He served in the U.S. House of Representatives (1855-61) and in the U.S. Senate (1861-77, 1881-97) and was secretary of the Treasury under President Rutherford B. Hayes (1877-81

Early in his congressional career Sherman gained a reputation as a fiscal expert. He was chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee (1859-61) and of the Senate Finance Committee (1867-77). He consistently preferred conservative financial policies but was often forced to balance his own convictions with the preferences of his constituents, many of whom favoured inflationary measures. He had a leading role in the establishment of the national banking system (1863), in the enactment of the bill (1873) that discontinued the coinage of silver dollars (denounced by critics as the "the crime of '73") and of the Specie Payment Resumption Act (1875), which provided for the redemption of Civil War greenbacks in gold. It was thus largely through his efforts that the United States returned to the gold standard. During the administration of President Benjamin Harrison, the Antitrust Act of 1890 and the Silver Purchase Act of the same year bore his name, but both represented compromises that had only his qualified approval.”

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK

The murderous and relentless attacks on the American economy eventually led to the United States Congress surrendering the right to issue money in 1913. I do not intend to discuss this private banking institution in this newsletter, but to show the reader how the international Jewish bankers were finally able to capture and control the economy. I quote the following from Encyclopedia Britannica:

“Federal Reserve System is the central banking authority of the United States. It acts as a fiscal agent for the U.S. government, is custodian of the reserve accounts of commercial banks, makes loans to commercial banks, and oversees the supply of currency, including coin, in coordination with the U.S. Mint. Created by the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, the system consists of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the 12 Federal Reserve banks, the Federal Open Market Committee, the Federal Advisory Council, and, since 1976, a Consumer Advisory Council; there are several thousand member banks.

“The seven-member Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System determines the reserve requirements of the member banks within statutory limits, reviews and determines the discount rates established by the 12 Federal Reserve banks, and reviews the budgets of the reserve banks. The Chairman of the Board of Governors is appointed to a four-year term by the president of the United States.

“A Federal Reserve bank is a privately owned corporation established pursuant to the Federal Reserve Act to serve the public interest; it is governed by a board of nine directors, six of whom are elected by the member banks and three of whom are appointed by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The 12 Federal Reserve banks are located in Boston; New York City; Philadelphia; Chicago; San Francisco; Cleveland, Ohio; Richmond, Virginia; Atlanta, Georgia; St. Louis, Missouri; Minneapolis, Minnesota; Kansas City, Missouri; and Dallas, Texas.

“The 12-member Federal Open Market Committee, consisting of the seven members of the Board of Governors, the president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and four members elected by the Federal Reserve banks, is responsible for the determination of Federal Reserve bank policy to encourage long-term objectives of price stability (i.e., controlling inflation through the adjustment of interest rates) and economic growth. The Federal Advisory Council, whose role is purely advisory, consists of one representative from each of the 12 Federal Reserve districts.

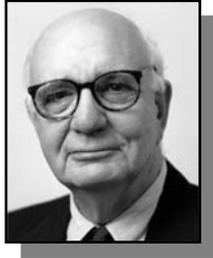

“The Federal Reserve System exercises its regulatory powers in several ways, the most important of which may be classified as instruments of direct or indirect control. One form of direct control can be exercised by adjusting the legal reserve ratio—i.e., the proportion of its deposits that a member bank must hold in its reserve account—thus increasing or reducing the amount of new loans that the commercial banks can make. Because loans give rise to new deposits, the potential money supply is, in this way, expanded or reduced.

“The money supply may also be influenced through manipulation of the discount rate, which is the rate of interest charged by Federal Reserve banks on short-term secured loans to member banks. Since these loans are typically sought by banks to maintain reserves at their required level, an increase in the cost of such loans has an effect similar to that of increasing the reserve requirement.”

LOOK AT THESE FACTS

The chairman of the Federal Reserve System is appointed by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate. However, once he is elected, neither the President nor Congress has any power over him or the Board of Directors he sits on. Many of the chairmen have been Jewish and most people remember Paul A. Volcker (born 1927, served 1979-87) and Alan Greenspan (an American Jew, born 1926 and served 1987-2006). The current chairman is the American born Jew, Benjamin S. Bernanke (born 1953 and sworn in February 1, 2006).

The owners of the banks in America waged a ruthless and relentless war from 1860 to 1913 (43 years) against our nation and succeeded in obtaining all they demanded, leaving the United States powerless over its own finances. During these 43 years, American men, women and children suffered at the hands of the money lenders as they faced unemployment, starvation and severe poverty.

President Lincoln paid with his life on April 15, 1865, for trying to introduce interest free money issued by the U.S. government. It was the international banking syndicate which ordered, paid for, and trained the group of men who were part of the assassination team that took his life.

Some 98 years later, President John F. Kennedy would also pay with his life when he was murdered on November 22, 1963. In much the same way as the murder investigation of Lincoln was mishandled and purposely bungled, so it was also in the case of Kennedy's assassination. What was in no way brought out and almost never discussed was the fact that just prior to his death, Kennedy had initiated the printing of interest free money by the U.S. government. I will now quote an excerpt from "The Dove Magazine, Winter 1991-92":

“June 4th, 1963 Executive Order 11.110 ...The little known Executive Order calls for the issuance of $4,292,893,815 in a new currency called, United States Notes. These notes were to be issued through the Treasury, rather than through the traditional method of the Federal Reserve System. The same day, Kennedy also signed a bill changing the backing of one and two dollar bills from silver to gold, adding strength to the weakening U.S. currency. Very shortly after Kennedy was shot, the brand new U.S. currency was quickly withdrawn from circulation (just like the Greenbacks) never to be heard of again.”²

In the 1968 primary elections for a new president, Robert F. Kennedy was nominated as the Democratic candidate. Having been the right hand of his brother, John, during his presidency, he knew why his brother had been murdered. Robert promised in his campaign speeches that he would finish what his brother could not do. On June 6, 1968, the night of his acceptance speech at the Democratic convention, he was murdered by an assassin. This time the International Bankers did not wait until Robert had taken office, they simply took him out before the election.

I have copies of one dollar silver certificate bills and two dollar bills in my personal possession. The words, "Federal Reserve Note" are not found on these bills. After the murder of two American presidents and a presidential candidate, any future president knows that if he wants to live and finish out his term, he does not challenge the International Bankers.

THE 1929 STOCK MARKET CRASH

Most people living in the United States in 2006 have heard about the terrible stock market crash that plunged the United States and the world into what is known as the Great Depression and was to last until 1939, when World War II broke out in Europe. What students are not told in public schools is that this crash of the stock market was engineered by the International Bankers with the help of the Federal Reserve System. When World War I started, it kick-started the American economy with the call for armaments and supplies for the war. The bankers did the same thing as they had done in the last century; they expanded the economy on credit and wild speculation. Investors would purchase stocks and then borrow money on the stocks to buy more, thereby hoping that at sometime in the future, they could sell at a profit and pay off their debts. When banks tightened up the money supply, it all went bust, and for the next ten years, the Federal Reserve Bank continued to shrink the American economy, just like after the Civil War. It not only plunged the United States into a deep depression but it also ruined the economies around the world. Here is what chairman Bernanke (right) of the Federal Reserve System said about these horrible years:

*"He has a strong interest in the causes of the Great Depression, a period in U.S. history accompanied by substantial monetary deflation as the result of deliberate actions of the Federal Reserve. On Milton Friedman's Ninetieth Birthday, Nov. 8, 2002, he stated: 'Let me end my talk by abusing slightly my status as an official representative of the Federal Reserve. I would like to say to Milton and Anna: Regarding the Great Depression. You're right, we did it. We're very sorry. But thanks to you, we won't do it again.'"*³

THE PRIME RATE

The prime rate is the interest rate that the Federal Reserve System sets for its short term loans to its member banks. All credit cards and bank loans are tied to this rate. This controls the housing market, the sale of automobiles and all other items purchased on credit. Neither the President of the United States nor Congress has any say over the prime rate; it is solely in the hand of the International Bankers, who continue to manipulate the world economy. At the time I write this, the economy is being contracted as the prime rate has been raised for almost a year and huge sums of cash have been taken out of the market.

The sad thing is, that very few Americans have understood what is being done to their hard earned money and the great professors at the Universities teaching economics are keeping mum about it. No one wants to step on the toes of the International Bankers, the risk is too great and murder is cheap for men who are determined to control life on this earth.

RULING FAMILIES OF THE EAST COAST

The United States developed under the control of a small number of European families who became super rich, together with Jewish bankers, a small middle class and a large number of working people who built the nation with hard labor and sweat.

Here is a list of some of these “Old Money Families” dating back to 1833:

“Whitney family, Perkins family, Stimson family, Taft family, Wadsworth family, Phelps family, Bundy family, Lord family, and Gilman family, all from Massachusetts.

There were also the Rockefeller family (Standard Oil), Harriman family (railroad), Weyerhaeuser family (lumber), Sloan family (retail), Pillsbury family (flour milling), Davison family (J.P. Morgan) and the Payne family (Standard Oil). The heads of these families became known as “The Robber Barons.”⁴

During the last 150 years, these families have been used by the International Bankers to funnel money to religious leaders, projects, and denominations that are beneficial to their policies. Some of these families have set up foundations, and this is how they dole out the money to further the agenda of a one world government and a one world religion.

The entire infrastructure of railroads, roads, bridges and factories between the east and west coast were built by the American Jewish bankers and the ruling rich families living on the east coast. By suppressing the supply of money, millions of white people were unemployed and wages were depressed; thus, the rich were able to exploit these workers who were desperate to feed their families and stay alive. But when it came to building railroads and operating dangerous mines, another ethnic group of people was imported to America, the Chinese. On the West Coast, a large number of Chinese were imported and forced to work as slave laborers to build roads, lay railroad track, mine ore, etc. Their suffering was great as they were forced to work long hours in a harsh environment and with no regard for safety. The method of bringing Chinese labor into America was different than bringing black slaves. Recruitment offices in China promised men a fabulous future in America if they committed themselves to a labor contract. Once they fulfilled their service contract and paid for their boat fare to America, they were free and could bring their families to America. What they were not told was that they would have to purchase their food from a company store and pay rent for company owned shelters at inflated prices. They became financial slaves, always working hard, but never able to meet the demand of the rich and the bankers.

THE BLACK PEOPLE IN AMERICA

Prior to the Civil War, life was very hard for black people in the South. They were sold and traded as cattle, and once a slave ended up on a farm, he had no personal rights. Slave owners pretty much treated them like cattle when it came to breeding, using the men as studs, and then in many cases, have the women raise the children separately. Young children in their teenage years were also sold on a slave market. Even though some slave owners treated their slaves better than others, they were still considered to be sub-human, and were treated like animals. If a slave owner got angry with a slave for any reason, he could beat him to death with no fear of punishment from the law; the lynching of Negroes who had fled or committed some crime was common. This mindset is totally repulsive to us in this day and age that human beings could treat another fellow human in this way.

There were some good hearted white slave owners, who treated their slaves well and encouraged family life, but they were a minority. White slave owners really believed they had done their black slaves a favor by bringing them from a primitive life in Africa to live a better life here, even if they were not free.

Many people in the current generation know that black slaves were imported to this country, but they don't know how it took place, and this is something they should know. The business was financed by Jewish bankers from England who owned the slave ships. Black tribes living on the West Coast of Africa were employed by these British Jews to go inland, wage war and kidnap men and women from inland tribes. These prisoners were brought back to the trading post on the coast where they were inspected and the leaders of the coastal tribes were paid a price according to their condition. The men and women were then loaded on ships, shackled and brought over to America. Many did not survive the ocean voyage. Once they arrived in the South, they were sold in batches to American wholesale traders. These traders then took their slaves to auctions, where white farmers and factory owners came and inspected each slave like a horse is inspected at an auction. Healthy young black men and women brought a better price to a trader than weak and sick slaves. Once they were sold at an auction, they were led in shackles to the plantation or factory, where they were trained, intimidated and then put to work. Severe beatings were given to slaves who did not conform to the wishes of their owners. Prior to the beginning of the Civil War, there were 3.5 million Negro slaves in the South.

THE CIVIL WAR SLAUGHTER

The Civil War was horrible and left its mark on our country for some time to come. Here are some statistics so that you can realize the cost in human life. The Union Army had a total strength of 1,556,000 men, of which 359,528 were killed and 275,175 were wounded. The Confederate Army mustered 800,000 men, of which 258,000 were killed and 225,000 wounded. Between the two armies, 617,528 American men lost their lives, and as a result, an equal number of families lost a father or son. Even worse, 500,175 families had to cope with a father or a son being maimed for life, never again able to carry on their duties as before the war.

Union Armies laid great waste to the infrastructure as they pushed into the South. Farms, plantations, factories and even cities were burned and laid to waste. General Sherman's infamous march with his army through Georgia and later his march through the Carolinas was a deliberate attempt to destroy as much infrastructure as possible and break the resistance of the civilian population in the Southern States.

The damage to the slaves is still with us to this very day. During the slave days, men had no chance to live like a father and be the head of the household. The former slaves were trying to live like free people, but the men had no training as fathers, and to this day a large percentage of the black American community is a matriarchal society with the women running the households. In California alone, the death rate for young black men is very high, and a large portion of the prison population consists of black males.

THE GATES OF HELL DID NOT PREVAIL

I want you to know that during these years of trouble, God had an army which was never defeated. It consisted of pastors, evangelists, Bible teachers, Sunday school teachers and regular rank and file Christians who labored among the unsaved people. They were from all kinds of backgrounds; Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Mission Covenant churches, independent holiness churches, Salvation Army, etc. The Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago (founded in 1877) and others like it sprang up all over the United States. Despite false doctrine and the infiltration of Freemasons into the churches, the Holy Spirit raised up new believers in Christ who had a burning desire to live a holy life, lead people to Christ, start Sunday school classes and home Bible studies.

Christian publishing houses sprang up, producing books, tracts and Bibles. D.L. Moody moved like a firebrand during these years as a mighty evangelist, closely followed in the early

Sunday's funding later on.

was more or less born in the United States. Ira Sankey, Moody's solo singer, electrified the people with his anointed hymns and Gospel songs. Thus, we can say that the words of Jesus were true when He spoke them and will continue to be so until He comes back:

He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Matthew 16:15-18

CONCLUSION OF THIS BACKGROUND STUDY

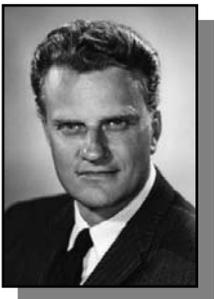

One thing that most believers in Christ have in common is the fact that we learn historical data about people but very seldom do we know the background of the times in which they lived. When I read the biography of Moody (right) many years ago, I did not know what a difficult time period he lived in, and how he must have struggled with finances and the political corruption, not only in local government but on state and federal levels. I have been in the ministry since 1969, and I know firsthand what a struggle it is to preach the Gospel, and work independently from denominations. From 1975 until 2004, I was on several radio stations Monday through Friday. When I started out, a 15 minute program cost about $25, but in 2004, it had risen to around $150. Our donor base consisted of listeners, who over the years, made it their mission to help in paying for the programs. But after 29 years, our early supporters started to check out and go to be with Jesus. Sadly, the younger people tend to give very little to God's work. I remember one day talking with a manager for a group of radio stations in North Carolina, who told me that the big radio and television broadcasters all had "secret" donors. These donors are responsible for donating millions of dollars to keep these broadcaster's radio and television programs going. Without these hidden sources, regular people simply are not able to keep up with the high cost of broadcasting. I remember hearing what this man said but I did not understand the significance of his statement. As I researched this newsletter, I came to the understanding that it is the people with money who control what they want on radio and television. This gives them total control over all that the Christians hear and see in the world on radio and television. So even though they might be against the message of salvation, they will allow it when other information that fits their agenda is also presented.

William Randolph Hearst (right) used his newspaper empire to propel Billy Graham (left) into a world evangelist from having been a small Youth for Christ evangelist in 1949. Graham has paid off his handlers well by promoting the World Council of Churches, the NIV Bible, etc. Oral Roberts, Jerry Falwell, Jim Bakker, Paul Crouch, Benny Hinn, Pat Robertson, Jack van Impe, John Hagee, Jimmy Swaggart are just a few of the most well known "shakers and movers" in Christian circles. All these men have the following in common: They are all pro-Israel dispensationalists. They lead large tours to Israel, and in the midst of war in the Middle East, they all come out defending Israel as the servant of God. In return foundations, wealthy Jews, and other rich people from the Eastern Seaboard establishment are making sure that these men have the funds to keep their "empires" going.

A PERSONAL OBSERVATION

During the early years of PTL with Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker's television ministry, I signed up to be a follow-up pastor for the Sacramento area. I had the privilege of ministering to people who had just accepted Christ or rededicated their lives. One day, a certain program irritated the American Jewish leaders, and headlines in newspapers across the nation screamed out, Jim Bakker was anti-Semitic! The storm did not die down and panic arose at the PTL organization as money was drying up. In a few weeks, it was announced on PTL programs and written up in the newspapers that Jim Bakker and his staff had met with leading American Jewish leaders and convinced them he was not anti-Semitic. In order to make sure that there would be no more slip ups, Jim Bakker agreed to place a Jewish rabbi on his Board of Directors to make sure that PTL was "kosher" and would remain so. I remember wondering why a strong evangelistic Pentecostal organization would put an unsaved rabbi on its Board of Directors. It was not until later that I understood that this is how it works at the top of Christian organizations. The Jews did not topple Jim, but it was his and Tammy's adulterous relationships that destroyed the ministry.

WHO WERE DARBY'S HANDLERS?

In the book "The Incredible Scofield and His Book," Joseph M. Canfield, shows that Cyrus Ingerson Scofield (1843-1921) became the American minister who would bring Darby's teaching into the mainstream of Christianity in the United States. In his book, Canfield brings out the connection between Darby and Scofield, the finances of these men, and also the Jewish connection.⁵

Whoever handled Darby made sure that the money transferred to him would be hard to trace. By looking at many different sources, this is the best picture I can present of Darby, his contemporaries and the people influencing him. We are going to look at the following people:

LADY POWERSCOURT (1800-1836)

Theodosia Wingfield Powerscourt was a wealthy widow who had inherited her husband's estates and wealth. As an aristocrat, it was unusual for someone of her status to mix with men who were not wealthy and into religious soul search. Prior to the formation of the Plymouth Brethren, she experienced a sense of the imminent return of Christ, and became the hostess for Darby and others, who used her mansion as a meeting place. At one point in time, Darby was engaged to her but he decided not to marry her and released her from the engagement. Darby's reason for breaking off the engagement was that he knew that he would constantly travel and it would not be good to have a wife. Lady Powerscourt opened her mansion in Ireland for a series of Prophetic Truth Conferences, which continued for several years. Darby became the undisputed leader of these meetings.

Attending were many clergymen as well as charismatic leaders from the Edward Irvin movement.

In time, Powerscourt removed her membership from the established Church, and joined the Brethren. She established a Plymouth Brethren monastery with her wealth on the banks of Lough Bray, deep in the Dublin mountains.

Her letters were gathered into a book by Bishop Robert Daly and published after her death. With the heavy teaching of "self sacrifice" and living a simple life, she ended up living as a recluse at the monastery she had built. She died at the age of 36.

EDWARD IRVIN (1792-1834)

Edward Irvin is a very important link in the development of the pre-millennium rapture teaching which was later adopted by Darby. He was born in Annan, Scotland, and educated at the University of Edinburgh. While he was waiting to be ordained into the Church of Scotland, he was busy working as a school teacher and learning foreign languages. He was ordained in 1819 and became assistant minister at St. John's Church in Glasgow. Irvin was a captivating speaker and overshadowed the senior minister of the church. As a result, he resigned and accepted a call to become the pastor of the Scottish Church in Hatton Garden and chaplain of the Caledonian Asylum (mental hospital). Hatton Garden is the center for gold, silver and diamond traders in London. In a short time, people from the upper society in London became regular attendees at his church. Among his friends was Thomas Carlyle, whom we will look into later.

Irvin became a prophecy buff, and from 1826, he took part in prophecy conferences which were held on the estate of British banker Henry Drummond in Surrey. Edward also began to write for the journal, "The Morning Watch," which was devoted to discuss unfulfilled biblical prophecies.

Since Edward drew large crowds, the church grew and moved into a larger building on Regent Square. But something was going to happen which would alter the thinking and doctrine of a large portion of the Christian Church in the world and has continued to do so even up until the present day. This brings us to the next person in this story.

EMMANUEL de LACUNZA (1731-1801)

Emmanuel de Lacunza was born in Santiago, Chile. He became a Jesuit priest, the most militant order in the Roman Catholic Church. When King Charles III issued the decree in 1767 that expelled all the Jesuits from Spain and its South American colonies, Lacunza ended up in Italy. Here he wrote a book entitled, "La venida del Mesias en Gloria y Majestad, observaciones de Juan Josafat Ben-Ezra" (The Coming of Messiah in Glory and Majesty, observations by Juan Josafat Ben-Ezra). It is interesting to note that he had given himself a Jewish name. What the general public does not know is that the Jesuit Order was heavily infiltrated by "crypto Jews," who are cabalistic Jews that have converted to different religions. These are followers of Sabbatai Sevi, the rabbi who proclaimed himself to be the Messiah in 1666.⁶ The goal of these crypto Jews is to direct the development of different religions, particularly Islam, Roman Catholicism and evangelical churches. They have also infiltrated political parties in many nations and were able to direct the policies of different nations to line up with the Zionist dream to establish a political state of Israel in 1948 and continue to protect the agenda of Zionism.

Lacunza died in Imola, Italy in June, 1801. Someone picked up his manuscript and published it as a book, in Spanish, ten years after his death. The teaching in the book about the imminent return of Christ and how believers should make themselves ready and not prepare to live out their lives on earth because Jesus was coming back shortly became a threat to the Roman Catholic Church and the book was banned by the Vatican in 1819.

Copies of the book ended up in England and somehow Edward Irvin was given a copy, which he translated into English and published in 1827 under the title, "The Coming of the Messiah." Because of Edward's fame, the book began to spread, as the Irvinites (Edward's followers) began to push this doctrine. Let's pause now and think deeply about the ideas put forth by Lacunza:

Lacunza taught that Jesus is coming back imminently, prior to the coming of the Antichrist. All Christian denominations have failed; instead, believers are to gather together outside the churches. We should concentrate only on leading people to Christ and tell them that Jesus is coming very soon. We should do away with all ambition to work in society (i.e. politics and education) even though this would naturally create a leadership vacuum that would be filled by secular people, including Jews.

Furthermore, Lacunza wrote that the Church of Jesus Christ had not replaced Israel as the Bible states, but that the Jews still had a covenant with God, and that in the end, God would restore the land of Israel along with the temple to the Jews. He taught that God had a special relationship with Jews and it was not necessary for them to be born again as the Bible states. This doctrine is the foundation for the "two-tier salvation plan" of the fanatical Christian Zionists who believe that there is one plan of salvation for the gentiles and another “special” one just for the Jews. The fact that this teaching cannot be found anywhere in the Bible did not bother Lacunza or his disciples of today.

If this heretical doctrine would be accepted by the Christian community at large, it would be worth more than millions of soldiers, as Christians would voluntarily and happily vacate their positions without a fight, and give the Jewish leadership an open door to lead the world in the direction of their wishes. History proves that this is exactly what happened as cabbalistic Jews like Karl Marx, Friedrich Engle, and Moses Hess wrote out the doctrines which later were going to be known as Communism, Socialism, Zionism and Fascism.⁷

Therefore, to the Jewish World Leadership, it was more than worthwhile to support and encourage Christians to spread this doctrine in the 1800's. As I have laid it out in our magazine, “The Dove,” from 1995 and on, the Illuminati was at its peak in this century, and all banking in the world at that time was done or controlled by the Rothschild dynasty out of Frankfurt, Germany; Paris, France; Vienna, Austria; Naples, Italy and London, England.

A man cannot decide to go fishing with no bait on the hook and expect to catch some fish. The fisherman is not interested in purchasing expensive bait to feed the fish, the bait just needs to be good enough that the fish will bite and get hooked. Likewise, the Cabalistic Jews could have cared less if people heard about Jesus whom they hated -- the end justified the means. If they could lead the Christian Church astray, they would live with it and invest money into Christian evangelism, as long as it contained the contaminated doctrine laid out by Lacunza.

At that time, Christians had no knowledge of the teachings of the Talmud which Martin Luther, a German monk had found out about centuries earlier and written a book exposing it called, “The Jews and Their Lies.” However, the Jewish spin-doctors were able to downplay the book and push it out of sight from the Christian community. Then there was the Cabala, the Jewish Messiah Sabbatai Sevi and his followers, and the Zionist's intense amount of work of trying to establish the State of Israel. Thus, there were very few watchmen on the wall, and the Jewish leadership was able to sell a doctrine written by a crypto Jewish Jesuit priest, which became the cornerstone for denominations like The Brethren, The Seven Day Adventist Church, the Assemblies of God, a number of other Pentecostal denominations and many Baptist groups.

BACK TO EDWARD IRVIN

Once Edward Irvin had bitten into the doctrine of Lacunza, his preaching changed. He began to teach that Jesus was not divine but had a fallen sin nature like all other men on earth. He also taught that salvation could only come with the regeneration through water baptism. Accordingly, we can see that some of these false doctrines now exist in, for example, the United Pentecostal Churches which teach that water baptism is part of salvation. Edward also taught that speaking in tongues and divine healing were for today.

As a result of his new doctrines, the Church of Scotland held a heresy trial where he was found guilty and defrocked in 1833. He moved back to Glasgow where he was a dominant leader in the new Catholic Apostolic Church (Catholic means universal, general). But leaders in this new church pushed him out and he died in 1834. In a short amount of time, Irvin did much damage to the Christian Church and was instrumental in lighting a fire that would transform masses of Christians into slaves of Judaism. With Irvin gone, the Jewish leadership focused their effort on the next torchbearer to further their cause, John Nelson Darby.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE FOR THE READERS

Some of you are now overwhelmed with all the details I have presented in this newsletter and you are asking, "How come I don't know these facts?" Let me try and put you at ease. I graduated from high school in Sweden and took mandatory classes in Christianity. The teaching was slanted to fit the State Lutheran Church (which does not exist any more) and we were never told that Martin Luther had exposed Judaism. My college degree was in Mechanical Engineering and I took no classes in religion. When I entered seminary in 1969, I was taught Southern Baptist doctrine, which included an assault on the Bible with a heavy emphasis on German liberal theologians. Doing studies on my own, I ran afoul of Hal Lindsey and his book, "The Late Great Planet Earth," and bought into the dispensationalist doctrine. It was not until 1979, when I met Pastor Gordon Ginn in Sacramento, that he began to challenge my theology on eschatology (future prophecies). We became good friends and have fellowshiped now for some 27 years. He forced me to research our subjects of conversation, so I could defend the positions I took, but I found that I could not defend dispensationalism. During my studies, I ran into the Talmud, the Cabala and the working of a World Government. God protected me from Scofield in that I never used his Bible, and so when someone sent me the book, "The Incredible Scofield and His Book," by Joseph Canfield, I was given another piece of the puzzle. In this book I found a reference to Lacunza, but in all my studies over the years, I had never come across this name. All my reference books, and even Encyclopaedia Britannica came up blank, so I went on the internet and found a number of articles. As I began writing this newsletter, I looked up Edward Irvin in "The New International Dictionary of Pentecostal Charismatic Movements" and found Lacunza mentioned, but there were no details. The book, "Who's Who in Christian History" didn't give any details but just referred to him as a Spanish Jesuit. The information I found on the internet agreed with the facts I have found from this time period. So, the story of Lacunza has been deeply hidden, and will continue to remain so unless you are looking for him. Prior to this newsletter, I never looked for Lacunza because I did not know he existed. After all, how can you find anything if you don't know what you are looking for in the first place? This is why these Bible verses are absolutely true:

Hear the word of the LORD, ye children of Israel: for the LORD hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land. By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery, they break out, and blood toucheth blood. Therefore shall the land mourn, and every one that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven; yea, the fishes of the sea also shall be taken away. Yet let no man strive, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that strive with the priest. Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the prophet also shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother. My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to me: seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children. Hosea 4:1-6
